Himformatics LLC

Tom Schnetzer is a founding partner of Himformatics. He believes every healthcare client deserves the expertise and dedication needed to use their information technology (IT) investments to improve performance, quality and outcomes. As a 30-year veteran of the healthcare and information systems industries, Tom has built long-standing, trusted relationships with leading healthcare organizations by developing and implementing IT strategies and solutions that drive results and deliver value.

Before Himformatics, Tom was a vice president with First Consulting Group (now CSC), where he spent about a decade at the international consulting firm specializing in information services consulting, integration and management services for the healthcare, pharmaceutical and life-sciences industries. Prior to that, Tom held various positions at technology and solution providers.

Tom is a frequent speaker for various executive and board retreats, trade shows and conferences on strategic information management in healthcare. He holds a bachelor's degree in management with a specialization in computer sciences from the Georgia Institute of Technology. He also is a member of several national trade organizations.

About Himformatics Himformatics harnesses IT and business expertise to help clients deliver healthcare in a way that makes a difference. From strategy to implementation, our select team of consultants specializes in getting the most value from IT to improve clinical processes and financial performance, and ensure regulatory compliance. Our expertise spans a range of comprehensive and specialized services for healthcare organizations big and small. We draw on our decades of experience to earn a place as a trusted adviser to your business, and we thrive on delivering exceptional service and results.
